Dear Members of the Glen Waverley Primary School Community,

Welcome Back
As usual, the holiday period has passed by very quickly and we have now started another new school year. I hope that all families have had a very happy Christmas break and thoroughly enjoyed the beautiful weather and time together. It has been wonderful hearing and sharing holiday stories with families and the children over the past week or so. It is also terrific to see the children returned happy, refreshed and ready for lots of learning!

Our Foundation (Prep) students started last Wednesday and certainly demonstrated a sense of bubbly enthusiasm and feelings of true excitement as they experienced the first few days of their primary education. I firmly believe the beginning of the school year is most exciting as the children return to or begin school with a cheerful zest, spring in their feet and with a look of anticipation in their eyes! I am very confident that 2017 will be another stellar year for all of those associated with our wonderful school.

Welcome to our new students, their families and also new staff
We have had quite a number of new students enrol this year which is extremely pleasing with our overall student enrolments being approximately 850. I would like to welcome all of the new children and their families and congratulate them on selecting our great school as their very important educational setting. We do have a wonderful school and I am sure the new students will thoroughly enjoy being part of the Glen Waverley Primary School Community and Family.

Also a sincere welcome to all of our new staff who have either joined us for the first time or are returning after Family Leave.

WHERE IS MR. DAMIEN KITCH?

For the members of our school community who may not be aware, at the end of last year Damien (Mr. Kitch) was promoted as the Acting Principal at Knox Central PS. His secondment is at least until the end of Term Two however it may continue beyond this. I have spoken to Damien on numerous occasions and, not surprisingly, he has already made a fabulous impression with the Knox Central PS community and an enormous difference! An Acting Assistant Principal position for our school has been advertised and I am hoping the selection process will be completed by our next newsletter.

WHO IS JAZ?

I had a very funny moment last week when one of our parents asked “Who is Jaz as my daughter would like to play with her?” Naturally the mother assumed Jaz was another child. However Jaz has 4 legs and is also new to our school – please refer to Ms. Rennie’s piece for further information.
Curriculum (Teaching and Learning) Update
It certainly has been a wonderful start to the 2017 school year with the Prep children settling in very well and the remaining children completing what we refer to as the “Getting to Know You” program.

It would be rather remiss of me not to mention how wonderful it is to see how settled, confident and ready the Prep children are for school. This is a real credit to the outstanding kindergarten teachers, our Prep Transition program and the tireless work of parents who have shared many wonderful stories about how much the children have been looking forward to school. Well done and thank you everyone for all of your efforts in ensuing the children are ready to commence school.

Facilities Update
Over the holidays the major works undertaken throughout our school was the installation of the double storey building. The building is extremely modern with the classrooms containing withdrawal and office spaces which are also large enough to support modern day teaching and learning approaches. The tradespeople are currently finishing some landscaping works which we hope will be completed by the end of next week.
Congratulations to Neev

Neev is an ex-student and a very talented tennis player, he is currently ranked 988 in Australia, and consistently figures in the quarterfinals stage or better in most state/national tournaments he has entered in the past 12 months. However Neev also accomplished something extremely special recently when he was a Ball Boy at the Australian Open. The selection process is exceptionally difficult and multi-staged with more than 4000 children trying out. In the end 380 were selected. Neev had the opportunity to be a Ball Boy for many games however the highlight was a match which featured his idol, Roger Federer – how exciting! Well done and congratulations Neev, hopefully one day we will see you playing at the Australian Open! Below are a few photographs for your enjoyment.

School Assemblies

A reminder that our whole school assemblies take place outside the Early Learning Centre every Monday morning from 9:05 to approximately 9:45 am. If the weather is too hot, too cold or wet, then the assembly is held in the school hall. The Prep to Year 3s from 9:05 to 9:30 and Years 4 to 6 from 9:35 to 10 o’clock.

As with all school events, parents and family members are most welcome to attend.

Individual Book Supplies and School Accounts

I am extremely pleased to report that the vast majority of families have now settled their fees and have collected book supplies. Thank you to everyone for your support and for ensuring that we have had a very smooth start with the children being well resourced and ready to go! As mentioned previously, the family contributions are a vital component of the school’s ability to provide resources for us to implement the best possible education for all of the children. For instance, shortly we will purchase the following IT equipment: 40 notebook computers, 80 iPads, a new Server, additional printers, interactive whiteboards for the new Year 5 building and approximately 60 various robots for our coding programs.

If you are yet to settle your school account and need some assistance, please do not hesitate to see me.

Extra-Curricular Programs

As everyone would be aware, at our school we have a magnitude of extra-curricular programs and activities in order to provide the children with additional learning opportunities. An overview of these and permission notices were distributed earlier in the week and if you have any queries regarding any of our extra-curricular programs please do not hesitate to contact the nominated person, Mrs Gough or myself.

Before and After School Care

A reminder to all families that our school provides a Before and After School Care Program for those who require such a service. The Before School program operates from 7:15 to 8:45 and after school from 3:30 to 6:30. Prep children will commence when they are released at 1 p.m. however it is imperative that they are booked in. Our program is run by Camp Australia and all the relevant information is located on our school website at www.glenps.vic.edu.au.
School Crossings, Car Park and Turning Circle
Our school is fortunate to have Crossing Supervisors on Springvale Road and High Street Road. It is imperative that we ensure everyone utilises the school crossings correctly particularly adults as we need to set the correct example. Also a reminder that all surrounding streets are 40 km per hour from 8 – 9:30 and also 2:30 to 4:00 p.m.

We are also fortunate to have a substantive car park which enables some parents to park when taking students to school or picking up after school. However it is not large enough for everyone to park, hence may I suggest you park at the Mountain View Hotel and walk across to our school.

When entering our school grounds either via High Street Road or Brent St, please be aware and refer to the following map.

The turning circle was created to assist families when dropping off and collecting students, so please be patient and ask your child(ren) to wait at the turning circle in order to speed up this process. A reminder that the children are not allowed to play ball games or on the adventure play ground after school if they are waiting to be collected from the turning circle. This rule is in place in order to increase the efficiency of the above process.

Parking in Brent, Fairhills and Kennedy streets – please be conscious of the signs in these streets as bylaws officers frequently visit during pick up and drop off times. Of most importance is NOT to turn your car’s engine off if you are in line as this will be deemed as you have parked your car and you will be fined. If you are in traffic and are lining up to collect your child(ren), I suggest you leave your engine running.

If you have any queries with any of the above please do not hesitate to see me.
Classroom Fruit Program (Brain Food)

As adults we acknowledge the importance of eating fresh fruit and vegetables on a daily basis and also the significant role they undertake in growing bodies – particularly when learning is occurring at the same time. As a result our school provides a small bowl of fruit to all classrooms however this is not sufficient for every child to have a piece every day. At 10 o’clock the children will stop and have a piece of fruit in order to replenish their vitamins and minerals and we would appreciate it if families could support this by ensuring their child brings a piece of fruit or cut-up vegetables such as carrot sticks or celery to school every day. If you have any questions about Brain Food please do not hesitate to see your child’s teacher, Mrs Gough or myself.

Principal Awards

As Principal I ensure that I am involved in the learning process as much as possible and as such strongly encourage all students to share their learning with me. Those who receive a Principal’s Award have their names and the reason why they received an award printed in the school newsletter. This is something I cherish dearly as do the children and their families.

Principal
Often, students visit either Frank or I to share their writing. They could be in Prep, Year 6, or anywhere in between. Some of them have obvious spelling errors, but their teacher has not marked them wrong. At home too, I may peek over the shoulder of my 14-year-old daughter to see what homework she is completing, and I may notice a few misspellings on her draft, but I know better than to point them out at this stage. If I were to highlight her errors, I would likely be told, “My teacher told us not to worry about spelling when we’re drafting.”

What’s the deal? Why don’t teachers seem to care about spelling anymore?

When children first learn how to write, they grapple with many different skills at once. After they master letters and build them into words, their next step is stringing those words together into complete ideas. That takes a lot of mental work, and trying to spell every word perfectly can slow the whole process way down. For this reason, many teachers in the early grades encourage inventive spelling, also known as temporary spelling — where the child makes his/her best guess on the spelling of the word, rather than stopping to find out the correct version.

This practice is grounded in research. A number of studies demonstrate that children who are allowed to use inventive spelling learn to write more quickly, more fluently, and with a richer vocabulary than those who work under more rigid spelling expectations (Kolodziej & Columba, 2005), which I have certainly noticed with my 14-year-old daughter as she utilises a rich vocabulary to build imagery and interesting characters when writing.

Researchers suggest that parents think about inventive spelling the way they once viewed their child’s early attempts at speech: When the child said “ba-ba,” did the parent say, “No, honey, it is pronounced “bottle”? Parents treasure this developmental step their child took towards conventional speaking by lavishly praising the child and offering the bottle...The child will not call the item a “ba-ba” for the rest of his/her life; rather, when the child is developmentally ready, he/she will be able to say “bottle” (Kolodziej & Columba, 2005, p. 217).

Spelling does “count,” but it is taught strategically; at the right time and place. Our Whole School Approach to writing explicitly targets Spelling in the Writing Process; students are taught to (1) gather and group their ideas (pre-writing), (2) flesh out those ideas in sentences and paragraphs (drafting), and (3) reorganize the piece so that it accomplishes the writer’s goals (revising). Only then, after the piece has been revised into a shape that’s close to finished, do most teachers tell their students to start the next step: editing. In this stage, final corrections are made to spelling, punctuation, and vocabulary choice.

The reason spelling and mechanics are de-emphasized in the first few steps is the same as in the younger grades: Too much focus on correctness interrupts the flow of ideas. Furthermore, teachers want students to understand that good writers revise their pieces many times for structure, development, clarity and voice. We target Writing proficiency through the use of the VOICES acronym; V – Voice O – Organisation I – Ideas C – Conventions E – Excellent Word Choice S – Sentence Fluency
Although the mechanics are important for polish, correct spelling can’t make up for a poorly structured, underdeveloped piece of writing. If a piece is going to be revised several times, it makes no sense to keep correcting the mechanics, only to have those words dumped entirely in a later revision – leading to student frustration and disengagement in the process.

Producing a finished piece of writing is a lot like putting on a polished musical performance: It requires the synthesis of many skills, some of which need to be handled separately. Imagine if a band conductor brought a brand-new piece of music to her band and expected all sections to play it together, perfectly, the first time. Even someone with no musical training can see that this is an unreasonable approach. Instead, if each instrument section starts by practicing their part separately, the performers will get really solid on their individual parts before pulling it all together to refine the complete performance.

So what should you do if your child comes home with a paper full of spelling or other mechanical errors? Take a cue from the teacher: If the teacher hasn’t mentioned the errors, then spelling was not a priority for this particular assignment or at this particular stage. Instead, praise the content itself. Here are some specific things to look for, and if they are there, to praise:

Strong, vivid vocabulary: “You chose a really interesting word to describe that monster – ferocious.”

Idea development: “You described how the lizard’s tongue works really clearly. At first I couldn’t understand how a tongue can smell, but this sentence helps.”

Audience awareness: “This introduction really grabbed my attention.”

Organization: “Nice transition here: ‘On the other hand.’ That’s a good way to show that you’re going to talk about a different side of the issue.”

Attempts at sophisticated construction: “Is that a semicolon? That’s a pretty advanced punctuation mark. I like to see you trying new things with your writing.”

Teachers often retain student writing to target spelling through vocabulary lists, home learning, individualised spelling lists as well as revising/editing writing. Rest assured, teachers still care very much about spelling. They just recognize that learning other skills — harder, more complex skills — often works best when those skills get a student’s full attention, delaying but not deleting attention to spelling as an integral part of an effective writing process.

The “Kids’ Corner” section of our school newsletter provides the opportunity for the children to showcase their talents or communicate something special.

The first Kids Corner for the year has been written by Harani (Year 5) who had a very special and somewhat different holiday experience which she would like to share with everyone.

MY HOLIDAY IN SRI LANKA

We left Australia on the 17th of December in the afternoon. I was super excited and bursting to go on to the plane. One of the main reasons we went to Sri Lanka was to see our cousins and close friends. I couldn’t imagine how they would look like. One of my cousins is 20, last time we saw him he was only 15!

When we arrived, my cousin came and picked us up. After we settled at our cousin’s house we went to some places. We visited all my cousins, and my parents went to see some friends while I stayed with my cousins and played. We also had a little trip to Jaffna and saw some war-torn areas being rebuilt. But one of my main highlights was that I went to school in Sri Lanka for 3 days to experience their culture and schooling systems.

In Sri Lanka they don’t have Prep, they just go Year 1,2,3,4,5 and then the start secondary in Year 6. Since I am in Year 5 in Australia, I was in Year 6 there. The school I went to was called Anuradhapura Central College. You might be wondering how I managed to do it. Well you see, my mum and dad both went to that school when they were in their secondary years. There were still some teachers that taught my mum and dad. They were very happy to give me that opportunity and they were happy to see me in the school uniform too. I also enjoyed wearing the school uniform because it was different. For example, the girls must wear white dress, ties and you can only wear white socks and white shoes. And need to tie your hair neatly.

Since I went with the Year 6’s who were also new to the school that day, we had a ceremony and the older girls and boys welcomed us by giving us flowers and directing us to main hall. They showed their special talents such as singing and dancing. When it was finished, we met our teacher and waited for school to finish so we could pick our cousin up. She is in Year 10. When we came back home I was very tired. You see, we must wake up at five and get ready and then leave at six, then school starts at 7:30 in the morning.

My First Day Of School🌟

On the other two days we had some subjects and then interval. Since it was the first days of school we had no class, so we were all just talking. There was also no teacher in the room to tell us to be quiet. We were just in the room by ourselves for two hours.

We had Science and History on the second day and English, Buddhism, Aesthetics and Science on the third day. You might be wondering what Aesthetic is. It is basically art, singing and dancing. I chose art and I had a lot of fun too. On the third day, I said “Bye” to my class mates and the teacher. The children gave me pens and rubbers and my best friend that I made gave me an exercise book. The teacher gave a lot of stationery items.
Jaz the Guide Dog Puppy

We are very excited to introduce the newest member of our school, Jaz the Guide Dog Puppy. Jaz was born on the 20th of November and over the next 10 months will be joining us at GWPS to learn all about our fabulous students, community and the world around us.

Guide Dogs play a very important role in improving the health and safety of individuals with various forms of visual impairments. These service dogs help those in need navigate the outside world safely, provide companionship and serve as a reminder that we all experience the world differently.

Jaz is a very happy and playful pup. She loves to chew toys (or anything she happens to find on the ground), chase balls and splash around in her water bowl. She is currently learning to sit, stay, toilet outside and walk happily on the lead.

As a puppy, Jaz has certain roles and responsibilities, the first and foremost being a learner. She needs to gain confidence around people, learn to differentiate between learning time and play time and get to know all the wonderful sights and smells around us. Being a guide dog puppy, she does have a few rules that she needs to follow; including no human food, no climbing on the furniture, no being pet while wearing her vest or on ‘walks’ and keeping all four paws on the floor. Once she turns 12 months old, Jaz will return to Guide Dogs Victoria to begin her formal training.

At GWPS we have a commitment to service learning. We strive to deliver rich learning experiences that teach our students to be global citizens with an understanding of our civic responsibilities at a local, national and global level. Students are encouraged to use their academic knowledge and skills to help address genuine community needs. Having Jaz at our school will help to foster this sense of service; doing something valuable that will help improve the quality of life for others.

If you have any questions about Jaz, please feel free to see Ms Rennie in 6A or Mr Catalano, or go to https://www.guidedogsvictoria.com.au/ for more information.
Thank you Daniel 5A for donating these wonderful Geronimo Stilton books

NAMING YOUR CHILD’S UNIFORM……

It is hard to ensure your child looks after their uniform, especially once they have taken it off at school! Here are some handy hints from other families trying to solve the problem of how to label their children’s clothing …..

- write on all labels with a permanent marker
- write directly onto the collar or waistband
- Sew in embroidered labels - they are excellent because the writing is clear enough for young children to read
- Sew the labels on the clothing, but not on the size tag, so it can't be cut out
- embroider your child’s name directly on the rib of their bomber jacket/windcheater
- sew an extra label in a 'hidden' place ie behind the inside pocket flap or inside the cuff

Then there’s the food containers ………

- write on with permanent marker
- stick on personalized labels
- use nail varnish to write their name on plastic water bottles, sandwich boxes etc
FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE
INFORMATION FOR PARENTS

Every Victorian child should have access to the world of learning opportunities that exist beyond the classroom. The Camps, Sports and Excursions Fund helps ensure that no student will miss out on the opportunity to join their classmates for important, educational and fun activities. It is part of making Victoria the Education State and the Government’s commitment to breaking the link between a student’s background and their outcomes.

CAMPS, SPORTS & EXCURSIONS FUND (CSEF)

School camps provide children with inspiring experiences in the great outdoors, excursions encourage a deeper understanding of how the world works and sports teach teamwork, discipline and leadership. All are part of a healthy curriculum.

CSEF will be provided by the Victorian Government to assist eligible families to cover the costs of school trips, camps and sporting activities.

If you hold a valid means-tested concession card or are a temporary foster parent, you may be eligible for CSEF. A special consideration category also exists for asylum seeker and refugee families. The allowance is paid to the school to use towards expenses relating to camps, excursions or sporting activities for the benefit of your child.

The annual CSEF amount per student is:

- $125 for primary school students
- $225 for secondary school students.

HOW TO APPLY

Contact the school office to obtain a CSEF application form or download from www.education.vic.gov.au/csef

MORE INFORMATION

For the CSEF application closing dates and more information about the fund visit www.education.vic.gov.au/csef
Camps, Sports and Excursions Fund

The Victorian Government unveiled a $140 million initiative in August 2015 to ensure all Victorian students can take part in school trips and sporting activities. The Camps, Sports and Excursions Fund (CSEF) will run over four years and provide payments for eligible students to attend camps, sports and excursions.

Families holding a valid means-tested concession card or temporary foster parents are eligible to apply. $125 per year will be paid for eligible primary school students, with $225 per year paid for eligible secondary school students. Payments will go directly to the school and be tied to the student.

CSEF Eligibility

Below is the criteria used to determine a student’s eligibility for the Camps, Sports and Excursions Fund (CSEF).
